Naples Airport: November closure

Naples Airport: closed throughout November for major runway refurbishment works.

Naples, 29 October 2026 - Naples Airport will be closed to air traffic throughout November to allow extensive refurbishment of the runway and taxiways, with the aim of ensuring the infrastructure's safety, reliability and long-term operational continuity.

The works have been scheduled as part of the extraordinary maintenance activities required under aviation regulations, in line with GESAC's overriding commitment to maintaining the highest operational safety standards, with a total investment of €30 million.

To minimise disruption to passengers, the works have been scheduled during a period traditionally characterised by lower air traffic volumes. They will be carried out continuously, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, by ADR Infrastrutture, a leading company in the sector awarded the contract following a tender procedure.

The works will involve approximately 500 people across a total area of 250,000 m². They include the removal of existing pavement layers and reconstruction of the runway structure using new materials, including high-performance modified bitumen, to ensure greater strength and durability over time.

To reduce the impact of construction activities and limit material handling, some of the demolition material will be temporarily reused to build noise barriers providing acoustic shielding for the areas affected by the works.

The project also includes the replacement and modernisation of the airfield ground lighting (AGL) systems, namely the runway and taxiway lighting and visual guidance systems that are essential for guiding aircraft during take-off, landing and taxiing, including in low-visibility conditions.

Some flights will be transferred to Salerno Costa d'Amalfi e del Cilento Airport, which will offer connections to 15 domestic and international destinations during November.
